The Dingley bill passed the House 205 to 121. One populist and five socalled democrats voted for it: Meyer, Broussard and Davey, of Louisiana, and Kleberg and Slayden, of Texas, and Populist Howard, of Alabama. Dire threats of violence by dynamiting and burning were made, which induced one of the keepers to lock up and abandon his premises. It is said that Charles Boulden, president of the Lancaster & Lexington road, received notice that he would be held personally responsible if more toll was collected. Similar notices were served on the gate keepers and the result is, one of the best roads in the county is now open. This means a reign of anarchy and a total surrender of every principle of law and good government. If this is permitted, the outlaws can regulate the price of all articles of merchandise and proper commercial relations will be wholly destroyed. W. P. WALTON.

HUNTER's goose is cooked. He has all along claimed that if he could have continuous balloting he would get there and in great shape. The opportunity was given him Tuesday, but after 13 ballots, he lost instead of gained and at the end was further from the prize than ever. Wednesday he claimed that he had a man or two up his sleeve the Harrodsburg conversation: and he was given another chance to make good his claim, but after five balthe body adjourned without electing a U. It becomes more and more apparent that Hunter can not be elected and as he has declared that he that the farce is costing the State $1,-000 a day, and vote to elect a good man able man can claim for Hunter, who is incapable of filling the position with credit to the State.

A cheer went up from many throats. The war, they said, was ended.
No longer did they need the boats
On which they had depended.
The army, too, was useless then And promptly was disbanded, And officers joked with the men They had for years commanded

A coup d'etat they called the thing
That closed the Cuban struggle.
It brought the end they'd failed to bring
With all they e'er could smuggle.
They gave to Spain the loud ha-ha,
Not with their ammunition,
But with the glorious coup d'etat
Designed for just that mission.

This most effective caper,
And humbled Weyler in his pride
By stealing all his paper.
And then, to make the thing complete
And finish this bold fighter,
To make more crushing his defeat
They stole his last typeswiter.

It has been a question the young lady's father wishes to investigate as to how they could obtain license in Stanford without his permission or a certificate from him when the lady was only 15 years old. Mr. Weaver says the guilty party must suffer for his crime.

Mr. John Robbins and Miss Minnie Watson, one of the belles of Brodhead, were united in matrimony at the Christian church Sunday night at 8 o'clock. Rev. A. J. Pike officiated. Bro Pike had just preached a short sermon from text, "Behold the bridegroom cometh." Matthew 25:7. There was a large crowd to witness the happy union of the two lovers. Mr. Robbins is a nice young gentleman and Miss Watson is an accomplished young lady and they have the good wishes and love of all who know them.

OF STANFORD, KY.

Attention of the public is called to the fact that this is the only National Bank in Stanford. Under the provisions of the National Bank Act depositors are secured not only by the capital stock, but by the stockholders' liability for an amount equal in the stock, so that depositors ore stithis institution are secured by a fund of $20,000. Five sworn statements of the condition of the Bank are made each year to the United States Government and its assets are examined at stated times by government agents, thus securit g additional and perfect safety to depositors.

This institution, originally established as the Deposit Bank of Stanford in 1858, then reorganized as the National Bank of Stanford in 1855 and again reorganized as the First National Bank of Stanford in 1852, has had practically an uninterrupted existence for 35 years. It is better supplied now with facilities for transacting business promptly and liberally than ever before in its long and honorable career.
